ON YOUR MARK, GET SET, GO

More than 150 of the 180 students enrolled at Immaculate High School showed their elders they wanted to participate in the pool walkathon, and the only way to convince them was to walk, or jog the 20 miles. Proceeds from the walk will go directly to the swimming pool committee. Pledges are on the same basis as the original walkathon Sept. 19 which saw $12,000 raised by more than 350 walkers. On hand for today's start were former Kelowna Mayor R. F. Parkinson and Jack Cooper, swimming pool co-ordinator. The 30 students who did not walk worked at checkpoints. (Courier Photo)

Chicken-And-Egg War Spreads Into Manitoba

OTTAWA (CP) — Manitoba entered the chicken-and-egg war on two fronts Thursday. On the home front the province enacted legislation to enable its marketing board to regulate poultry imports into the province. And on the eastern front Agriculture Minister Samuel Uskiw told the Commons agriculture committee why this had been done and what he thought was wrong with Bill C-197.

Nixon Shakes Spanish Hands And Lauds Pact About Bases

MADRID (CP) — President Nixon arrived here from Belgrade today for a 20-hour visit to express his approval of renewed agreements for U.S. military bases in Spain. Head of State Francisco Franco, 77, greeted him at Madrid's Barajas Airport. They drove into the city together along streets bedecked with the flags of the two countries. Franco, in khaki military uniform with a red sash and gold tassels, gave Nixon a warm hug as the president stepped onto the runway from the presidential plane. In a brief speech, Nixon said Spanish-American military cooperation is "an indispensable pillar for peace in the Mediterranean."

Washington Plans New Probe Into Reds' Peace Intentions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is planning a fresh probe of Communist intentions in the Vietnam peace talks in Paris. The aim is to find out whether an interest in serious negotiations is behind the recent eight-point Communist proposal for a Vietnam peace settlement. President Nixon, informants report, plans to discuss the proposed manoeuvre with his chief Paris negotiator, Ambassador David Bruce, when the two meet in Ireland Sunday for a review of the deadlocked Paris talks.

finds the bill unsatisfactory is the lack of definition of the principles by which the marketing agencies it is intended to create will be guided. "These principles are so important that their definition should not be left to the discretion of a national marketing agency after it has become established," he told the committee. "It is quite conceivable... that for some agricultural products quantitative supply management will be one of the functions to be assumed by the national marketing agency. In cases where quantitative supply management is necessary, the allocation of production quotas by provinces becomes unavoidable. For such cases, the legislation should spell out the principles by which the marketing agency should be guided."

Mr. Uskiw also took exception to the consensus at the recent federal-provincial conference of first ministers that cattle should be excluded from the bill. He told the committee that "establishing the principle of exempting a commodity group from embracing legislation is very dangerous." He said the point should be made to cattle producers that if they, as a group, don't decide to use the umbrella legislation, they don't have to. On other matters he drew support from previous testimony Thursday in which Dr. David MacFarlane, chairman of the McGill agricultural economics department and a member last year of the federal commission on agriculture, urged that provincial restrictions should be tested in the courts. Dr. MacFarlane said he had sent a telegram last week urging Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson to have the matter tested in court.

Wilson Rapped

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Britain's Labor party today ends its first annual convention since being voted out of office, and former prime minister Harold Wilson's authority has been shaken and leadership challenged. Wilson drew applause from delegates for his keynote speech Tuesday, but endured a succession of rebuffs in the voting. Among the slaps: —The convention, against his advice, voted a resolution Wednesday declaring that its decisions should be binding on all Labor MPs. The stated reason was that the Wilson government had seemed to treat past convention decisions with contempt, such as those that called for a British dissociation from American policy in Vietnam.

—The convention decisively rejected the urgings of Wilson and his fellow leaders that the Labor party must remain committed to work for a national incomes policy that would spell control of wage demands. Complicating the situation for Wilson and the Labor movement, is that most of Britain's unions today are led by left-wingers. The outstanding examples are Jack Jones, who bosses the million-member Transport and General Workers Union, and Hugh Scanlon, who heads the equally powerful Engineering Union. Their interventions, and the block of membership votes behind them, dominated the party convention.

Police Lose Kidnap Car

MINOT, N.D. (AP) — Police early today chased and lost a car matching the description of one believed commandeered by Harold Halsey, wanted in connection with several kidnappings, including that of a South Dakota deputy sheriff. Halsey, 30, missing from a Washington state mental hospital, was thought to have escaped across the border into Manitoba after a 12-hour chase late Thursday. A Minot police spokesman said a car resembling a missing sheriff's squad car was seen and chased near here. Police lost it about 3:15 a.m.

IT WAS RAT RACE FOR SPEEDY SNAIL

HOVE, England (AP) — They buried a champion in 15-year-old Chris Hudson's garden today. With proper ceremony, Chris laid to rest his four-year-old snail, Colly, who died in her jam jar. Colly won the title of the world's fastest snail at a competition in Folkestone last spring. She covered two feet in three devastating minutes, leaving the other competitors far behind. "She was only four," young Chris said sadly. "I don't think captivity really agreed with her."

Mayors Seek Urban Debate

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities said today provinces and municipalities should be called into discussions before the federal government sets up its national urban council. President Ivor Dent, mayor of Edmonton, said in a statement he welcomed a proposal concerning the urban council made in June by Robert Andras, federal minister without portfolio responsible for housing. "We urge the minister to complete his discussions with the provinces which he indicated would be undertaken prior to setting up the council or any similar new institutional framework," Mr. Dent said. "We also urge that, in order that the (proposed) council serve the purpose of sound urban policy, the minister join the municipalities and the provinces in discussions about the form and functions of the urban council."

GM Strike Lingers On

DETROIT (AP) — The number of General Motors employees made idle by the United Auto Workers union strike passed the 400,000 mark today, as the negotiations show no sign of bringing an end to the walk-out, now in its 18th day. The talks remained focussed on local-level issues. On a related front, a strike was averted late Thursday when negotiators for the UAW and Caterpillar Tractor Co., in Peoria, Ill., agreed to extend their current contract indefinitely.

Caterpillar employs 30,000 UAW members. Thursday, bargainers reached a local agreement at a major plant, the Detroit Diesel-Allison Division plant, which employs 6,300 workers. It was only the 11th out of 155 bargaining units with an agreement. Both GM and UAW leader said agreement on a substantial majority of the local contracts must be reached before the strike would end. GM announced Thursday it had 401,123 hourly and workmen in the United States and Canada. GM's auto production was 131,285 for the month of September compared with 436,667 for the same month a year ago. Those idle include 327,810 on strike in the United States, and 22,100 in Canada, 37,463 UAW members laid off at strike-exempted plants, 9,400 members of the International Union of Electrical Workers and 4,350 United Rubber Workers also laid off. GM Thursday laid off workers at the Inland Manufacturing Plant in Dayton, Ohio, which supplies GM with rubber products.

DOLLAR DOWN
NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian dollar down 7.64 at 98 3-32 in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling down 1-32 at $2.38%.

KAPP TO MOVE

Boston Patriots have acquired Joe Kapp, the star quarterback who led Minnesota Vikings to the National Football League championship last year. Kapp has stayed out of action so far this season because of a contract dispute. President Joe Sullivan of the Patriots made the announcement at the team's training headquarters at Curry College, in Milton, Mass. Sullivan said the terms of the deal with the former British Columbia Lions player are still to be worked out.

HONG KONG PROVES IT

Man Can Move Mountains
HONG KONG (AP) — They're moving mountains in Hong Kong, and throwing them into the harbor. Jagged peaks are blasted down to base level or heaved into terraces. Millions of tons of rock and earth are dumped at the water's edge. The blasting produces flattened spaces, suitable for all kinds of development, where previously the rugged terrain was useless. Some of the most valuable real estate in the world is thus created. A prime newly-made waterfront site was auctioned for $800 a square foot last June. In New York City, prime real estate, including waterfront property, now costs $200 a square foot. All this is changing the face of Hong Kong. The island part of the colony used to plunge straight down from the peak. Now a shelf of reclaimed ground juts into the harbor. On it is built the major part of the downtown area. The Suzie Wong bars and tailors' shops of Wan-chai are on reclaimed land. The famous Kaitak Airport, with its

London To Victoria Will Be Flight Route

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced plans for a London-to-Victoria air race to celebrate British Columbia's centenary. Mr. Bennett said the 5,851-mile race will begin July 1, 1971, and will involve at least 80 aircraft. It will be the third trans-oceanic, trans-continental race in aviation history. The others, in 1934 and 1969, were flown from England to Australia. The premier said, in part, in remarks relayed to Ottawa by telephone: "Just 100 years ago, Ottawa famed British Columbia's enthusiasm for Confederation by promising to build a railway system through to the Pacific Coast. And now here we are in 1970, announcing a very different form of travel enterprise, linking east to west. I see the air race as a renewal of the sentimental ties which join the population of this province with the rest of Canada, and with our ancestral homes across the Atlantic."

The race was conceived by Information Canada Expositions, formerly the Canadian Government Exhibition Commission. Aircraft eligible to enter the race range from single-engine, propeller-driven airplanes to 30,000-pound executive jets. Planes designed for use as offensive or defensive weapons cannot be entered. GIVE HANDICAP Race officials will use a computer and a formula based on engine power, wing area and maximum take-off weight to determine take-off time for each plane from each control point along the race route. The staggered take-off times will enable each pilot to compete according to his flying ability rather than the flight characteristics of his plane.

Close Finishes To Be Aim

After leaving London, the competing planes will land at Goose Bay, Labrador; Quebec City; Ottawa; Winnipeg; Calgary; and Victoria. Limited fuel capacity will force some planes to stop at intermediate points. Because of the staggered take-off times, most planes should arrive at each control point at approximately the same time, making close finishes almost certain at each point. Weather permitting, the race should end in Victoria July 7, where the winner will pick up the $50,000 first prize. Technical administration of the race will be handled by the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association and affiliated groups in the United Kingdom, Ireland and Denmark. The race is open to individuals, organizations and companies from any member state of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale. Administrative cost of the race will be borne by the federal government as part of a $1 million grant given to British Columbia for special events during its centennial celebration.

Nasser Funeral Takes Its Toll

CAIRO (Reuters) — Egypt's interim president and another top leader were reported recovered and resuming their duties today despite suffering heart attacks during the emotional frenzy of President Nasser's funeral Thursday. Interim President Anwar el Sadat, 52, vice-president until Nasser's death Monday, was treated at hospital Thursday and was well enough afterward to visit the Nasser home and offer condolences to the family, official sources said. The second heart attack victim was 50-year-old Aly Sabry, a member of the Arab Socialist Union executive, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram and other Cairo papers reported. Egyptians turned Nasser's funeral into a turmoil of popular homage. At least six persons were trampled to death as waves of mourners crashed through police barriers in attempts Thursday to get a last glimpse of the coffin of the man who staged the 1952 revolution and became leader of the Arab world. The wild scenes were not restricted to Egypt. In other parts of the Arab world there were mass demonstrations of homage to Nasser. In Lebanon, at least 10 persons were killed, mostly by stray bullets fired in salute, and in Kuwait two died when their car collided with an ambulance hurrying to the aid of fainting funeral marchers.

AMMAN (CP) — Jordan's new government said Thursday it would recognize only one Palestinian guerrilla organization, Al Fatah, headed by Yasser Arafat. Arab truce teams persuaded guerrillas and army troops to stop shooting at each other in Palestinian strongholds in northern Jordan. The Jordanian government has offered a $14,000 reward for the capture of Dr. George Habash, head of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, a pro-Peking guerrilla group responsible for the recent spate of airline hijackings to the Middle East.

Fog Blanket Hits B.C. Coast Cutting Communication Links

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fog expected traffic to return to normal later as the fog lifted. The weather office said smoke, which is mixed with the fog, will decrease later today and Saturday will be mostly sunny. A fog dispersal program at the airport has not started because Harrison Airways Ltd., which has the dispersal contract, has not yet received approval from Ottawa to go ahead. However, the airlines

Canadian French 'Meaningless'

The French translation of a Canadian document came under attack Thursday by delegates attending the International Civic Aviation Organization meeting in Montreal. French-speaking delegates to the conference complained that the French version of a Canadian anti-hijacking proposal was incomprehensible. "This text is meaningless," said Tunisian delegate A. L. Elchei. "Not only does it contradict the English text but it is ungrammatical and without sense. Surely ICAO's translation department didn't do this?" It was then admitted the translation was not the work of ICAO but had been prepared in Ottawa.

Canada announced action Thursday at the United Nations on two international conventions that have a bearing on past disputes between the federal government, Quebec and the French government of former president Charles de Gaulle. At the same time it said it hopes to be in a position soon to ratify the UN Convention on the Prevention and Elimination of Racial Discrimination. Canadian delegate Edward E. Lee made the announcements in the General Assembly's legal committee.

In Bottesford, England, an Anglican clergyman Thursday accused British youngsters of losing contact with the spiritual life and said they would only attend a church featuring topless choirgirls. Rev. William Metcalfe, rector in this Midlands village made the statement in his parish magazine.

For the second time, the United States Coast Guard called off the search Thursday for three people who set out Sept. 20 to cross the Atlantic in a helium-filled balloon from Long Island. The search was called off last weekend, but was renewed Wednesday at the urging of U.S. Senators Marlow Cook of Kentucky and Warren G. Magnuson of Washington.

A federal grand jury in Washington has indicted on three charges four young men sought by the FBI in connection with the Aug. 24 explosion at the University of Wisconsin's army mathematics research centre. The four, whom federal authorities believe are hiding in Canada, are brothers Karleton and Dwight Armstrong, 24, and respectively, Leo Frederick Burt, 22, and David Sylvan Fine, 18. They were charged with illegal use of a firearm and conspiracy.

IT'S NOT ALL DONE BY MACHINES

You pick up the telephone, dial up to 13 numbers, some electronic gadget behind the scenes does all the work and your long distance call goes through automatically. Right?

Most of the time, if you dial direct, but not always. In the Kelowna office of the Okanagan Telephone Company, and in telephone offices across the country, these are still long distance operators handling calls. If possible, they prefer you to dial direct, but they are always ready to assist. But in any case, the "phone company" has come a long way since the days when your phone had a crank or at least no dial and every time you wanted to make a call a voice at the other end said, "number please." (Courier photo)

OK Water Board After More Time

PENTICTON—The Okanagan Basin Water Board, meeting here Thursday, decided to ask the B.C. Pollution Control Board for more time to oppose pollution control permits.

Basin Water Board members took the action when they realized the current 30 days from date of advertisement does not allow them enough time to prepare a brief opposing an application.

"By the time we get applications the 30-day period for objections has passed," OBWB secretary-manager William Parr-chomchuk told the members.

Penticton Mayor F. D. Stuart suggested the 30-day period for objections be extended or that interested parties be notified of applications as soon as they are received by the pollution control board.

HELD FOR MONTH

"There is no way we can develop an adequate brief in 30 days," he said. "I do not see why they should hold an application for several months and then expect anyone opposing it to prepare a brief in 30 days."

The OBWB also decided to ask the three regional districts, Okanagan - Similkameen, Central Okanagan and Northern Okanagan, to forward copies of applications as soon as they are received so they can be studied by a technical committee.

E. F. Lawrence, director of operations for the City of Kelowna, said he was concerned that not enough investigation had taken place on six applications which were presented to the board Thursday.

"We have not been involved in any of these," he said. "To my knowledge, these items have not been discussed by Kelowna city council nor has the technical staff been asked for comments."

Four of the applications were from the Kelowna area.

Rites Monday For Two Area Residents

MRS. Y. IBARAKI

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. from the Central Gospel Church, Rutland, for Mrs. Yasue Ibaraki, 79, of Leithhead Rd., who died Wednesday.

She is survived by two sons, Masao and Hidio, both of Kelowna, two daughters, Rose (Mrs. R. Nakai), Rutland, and Julia (Mrs. T. Yoshikawa), in Japan.

Sixteen grandchildren, five great-grandchildren, and one sister also survive.

She was predeceased by one son, Ed, in 1953. Mr. Ibaraki died in 1929.

Prayers will be said in Central Gospel Church at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Rev. I. Yokoyama will officiate with interment to follow in Kelowna Cemetery.

Day's funeral service is in charge of the arrangements.

Community Concert Group Looking For 900 Members

The recent membership drive undertaken by the Kelowna Community Concert Association was a "qualified success," says James Brigham, association chairman.

"Our aim is to completely sell out at the theatre for three concerts which must be held each year," he said.

Mr. Brigham said the group is looking for 900 members, which would ensure a sell-out.

Instead, there are about 600 members.

Tickets are not sold at the door, he added, with members having the only tickets.

WAITING LIST

"Vernon and Penticton have sold-out their theatre every year," he said, adding there is a waiting list for memberships in the two centres.

"If we had 900 members, we could have a better opportunity to select artists coming to our area," Mr. Brigham said.

"As it is, for the past two years, we have had to fight to get the minimum membership to put on the three concerts."

The three concerts Kelowna members will see are the Korean National Folk Ballet's Little Angels, Oct. 17, Soprano Irene Salemma, Feb. 4, and pianist Carl Mathies on April 1, 1971.

Membership in the Kelowna organization not only includes attendance into local concerts, but performances throughout Canada and the United States.

No Injuries In Mishaps

A two-car accident at the intersection of Ellis Street and Cawston Avenue resulted in $700 damages and no injuries to drivers Donald Appleton of Kelowna, and Eddie Nakata of Westbank. The mishap occurred at 10:20 p.m. Thursday.

Local RCMP are investigating a hit and run mishap on Queensway involving a vehicle owned by Allan Betts of North Vancouver.

No injuries were sustained and damage has not been assessed.

The mishap occurred at 11:10 p.m. Thursday.

Also under investigation is damage to a road sign on Highway 97 in which a vehicle involved left the scene. The incident occurred at 9:25 p.m. Thursday.

Rutland Infant Buried Today

Funeral services were held today at 2 p.m. from Day's Chapel of Remembrance for Shawn Robert Bouchard, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bouchard, Rutland, who died Thursday.

He is survived by his parents, one brother, Clayton, at home, his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Trego, Nanaimo, his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Emile Bouchard, of Kelowna, great-grandparents Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Enion, of Vancouver, and several uncles and aunts.

Rev. John Davidson officiated and interment followed in Lakeview Memorial Park.

In lieu of flowers, friends may donate to the Kinsmen Rehabilitation Foundation.

Manager Background Ideal For New 20-Part Program

A 20-part executive development course will be offered at the Kelowna Centre of Okanagan Regional College Oct. 14, says S. J. Gowland, director of adult education for School District 23 (Kelowna).

The course, designed for all managerial levels, is being sponsored by the college and the adult education department, he said.

The maximum class will be 20 students.

Students in the course should have some background in management, either scholastically or preferably practically, Mr. Gowland adds.

"The ideal student would be currently employed at a supervisory or managerial level."

Course materials provide theories and practical applications to motivate people for students interested in supervision.

The latter part of the course introduces the student to decision models which are currently being used to plan and measure the effectiveness of organizational goals.

Topics to be covered include behavioral approach to management, motivations and behavior, environment and motivation, leadership, determining one's effectiveness as a manager, decision models and planning, co-ordination and control.

Instructor will be R. S. Kergan of the college staff.

Further information on the course may be obtained by phoning Mr. Kergan at the college.

Bail $500 On Remand

Victor Clement Theriault of Okanagan Mission, was remanded Monday on a charge of assault causing bodily harm on a plea of not guilty in provincial court today before Judge R. J. S. Moir. Bail was set at $500 cash.

Also remanded to Oct. 9 was Joseph Peter Yarama of Kelowna, who pleaded guilty to three charges of breaking and entering.

Herman Thiesen of Langley, was sentenced to three months concurrent on separate charges of assaulting a police officer and being intoxicated in a public place. The accused had pleaded not guilty to both counts.

A warrant has been issued against Nancy Winifred Caldwell of Rutland, out on $1,000 bail on a charge of trafficking in narcotics. She failed to appear in court today.

In provincial court Wednesday, Keith Grant of Armstrong, was acquitted on a charge of false pretences before Judge R. J. S. Moir. The accused has pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Fan Noise Shut Off

Sleep-disturbing noise emanating from the boiler room of the new acute-care unit of the Kelowna General Hospital has been reduced to "acceptable limits," according to hospital administrator C. F. Lavery.

The object of irate objections from nearby residents a few months ago, the offensive clatter was traced to a furnace intake fan which acoustical consultants have now "deflected" in a different direction through re-location of air-intake ducts on the roof of the boiler room.

Another associated noise-producing irritant involved the unit's ventilation system which has since been cleared up.

The disturbing din precipitated a delegation to city council in May led by Alex Kabatoff, who told city fathers the noise level had reached such proportions it was keeping nearby residents awake as late as 2 a.m.

ONTARIO MAN BADLY INJURED IN ONE-CAR CRASH THURSDAY

Glenn Robert Robinson of Ontario, is in fair condition today at Kelowna General Hospital, with head injuries suffered in a single-car accident on Highway 97 at the airport cut-off at 11:37 p.m. Thursday.

Driver of the vehicle, believed to be Clement Paradis of Winfield, was not injured in the mishap which caused about $1,200 damage.

About $1,100 damage was incurred in a two-car accident at the intersection of Highway 97 and Highway 33 at 1 p.m. Thursday, in which another person was injured. Drivers involved in the mishap were listed as Nellie E. Clements of Sarnia, Ont., and George Buckingham of Oliver.

Logging School Starting Oct. 13

A six-week basic logging school begins at the British Columbia Vocational School (Kelowna) Oct. 13.

At one time it was hoped to have the course begin Monday, but delays in receiving equipment resulted in postponing the start one week, says principal W. R. Brown.

He said most equipment had arrived, with the remainder expected shortly.

The school, sponsored by Canada Manpower, is the result of a two-year study of the labor shortage within the province's logging industry.

Initially eight students will take the course, to be followed by another eight three weeks later.

From then on there will be at least eight students arriving for the course at three week intervals.

The school is supported by the Interior Loggers' Association, the Interior Loggers Manufacturers' Association, International Woodworkers of America, the provincial department of education and Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd.

Instructor O. M. Maja says students will be taught the basic safety and logging course.

This includes such subjects as falling, choking, bucking on landing and rubber-tired skidder operations.

PRACTICAL LESSONS

Theory will be taught at the vocational school, with practical lessons at Crown Zellerbach's timber holdings.

There are two instructors on staff currently, Mr. Maja and P. A. Horvath.

Mr. Brown said if future demand forced the school to accommodate more students, additional teachers would be hired to meet the increased class sizes.

He added this step might not occur for at least two to three months from now.

Business Courses Expanding In Kelowna Education Scheme

Business evening courses have begun operating at Kelowna Secondary School, and more are to be operational before the year ends.

Courses which have begun are beginners' bookkeeping, effective communications, how to start and run one's own business, computer systems, supervisory practices and beginners' typing.

The typing and bookkeeping courses offer students the subject's basics, while the communications course explains the art of listening and speaking. The latter course is sponsored by the Kelowna and District Jaycees.

TEN NIGHTS

Both typing and bookkeeping run for 20 consecutive Tuesdays.

The communications course runs for 10 Wednesdays.

Information pertaining to starting and operating one's own business, such as financing, location, franchise, sales, purchasing licences and legal requirements, is offered for 10 Mondays.

The computer systems course will be oriented to computing (calculating rather than to data processing). Twenty sessions on Tuesdays.

Supervisory practices is a five-day full-time course this week sponsored by Canada Manpower.

Hot on the heels will be another Canada Manpower course, how to apply for a job and present yourself in the best light. Two two-week courses will be offered, Oct. 19 and Nov. 9.

For those interested in learning about the practical, legal, and financial aspects of subdividing real estates, a one session course will be offered Oct. 27.

Other courses, such as personal financing, Nov. 12, estate planning and the bond market, will be offered in early 1971.

Times for all classes is 7:30 p.m.

Commercial Commissioner 'Vital Role' Says Chamber

A $25,000 scheme to create the post of commercial commissioner has been proposed to the Regional District of Central Okanagan.

In a 10-page brief, submitted to the regional board this week, the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce outlines the role of the commissioner who would oversee orderly and controlled development of desirable industry in the Central Okanagan.

C. G. (Bud) Meckling, chairman of the chamber executive committee which drafted the brief, said the type of position, with an accompanying association, goes beyond the former role of a Kelowna industrial commissioner.

"Many persons associate commercial development only with the development of secondary manufacturing," the brief said.

"This leads to a complete misunderstanding of the role of the commercial development commissioner whose responsibilities include every form of economic activity in a community."

The chamber defines commercial development "in the broadest sense" to include primary and secondary industry, wholesale and retail service businesses, professional and technical services, tourist industry, construction and land development.

The commissioner would not be an employee of the regional district but of a Commercial Development Association composed of $500-a-voting-share members.

The chamber proposes that the regional district, including Kelowna, hold a voting block of 20 shares out of a total of 50 at a price of $10,000.

The next largest holding would be that of the Real Estate Board with 10 voting shares at $2,000, followed by the Central Okanagan Regional Chamber (not yet in existence), Southern Interior Construction Association and Inland Natural Gas with five voting shares apiece at a fee of $2,500 per organization.

The chamber proposes West Kootenay Power and Light, Pacific Western Airlines and B.C. Hydro combine to purchase the five remaining shares for $2,500.

Memberships purchased for less than $500 would not have voting privileges but small holders could combine fees to get a pooled vote.

The fees, collected annually, would be used for the commissioner's $12,000 a year salary, travel and promotion, $5,000; clerical fees, $4,000; research fees and advertising, $3,000 and office rent, $1,000.

Working from an office in the provincial government building at the west end of Okanagan Lake Bridge, the commissioner would encourage new commercial development, "discourage hopeless or undesirable ventures and supply services to established firms."

A full-time employee, the commissioner would have to be constantly aware of what industries were needed for a good balance and sound tax base and what property is available in the area.

His job will also include public relations in the form of publicity material, tours and speaking engagements to keep the community and outside public informed of local commercial expansion.

"Essentially a commissioner is a salesman, selling the economic advancement of his community," the brief said.

The chamber, solely responsible for industrial development promotion during the first quarter of 1970 until the industrial commissioner's position was discontinued, offered its services in setting up the Commercial Development Association.

It also tentatively pledged $2,000 towards the $2,500 recommended as the regional chamber's share.

R. E. Nourse, former industrial commissioner, assisted the chamber committee in compiling the brief.

A. T. Harrison, secretary-treasurer of the regional district, said four briefs were requested since the board requested submissions on an industrial commissioner.

In addition to the chamber brief—the only one made public so far—one was received from the real estate board and two from private individuals.

They will be considered by the regional district board this month.

Regional District Permit Values Indicate Increased Construction

The building boom, which seems to have slackened off slightly in Kelowna, is continuing in the district.

Figures released this week by the Regional District of Central Okanagan show building permits issued in September were valued at $1,405,574 compared with $1,108,144 in the same month last year and $792,277 in September 1968.

The figure brings the total to date to $15,983,463 compared with $13,455,328 to the end of September, 1969.

The current figure is almost three times the total value of building permits issued to the end of September 1968 which was $6,596,221.

City building permit statistics are not yet available and there is no indication if this trend will follow that set last month when permits were valued at $4,005,005 compared with $9,774,839 issued in August, 1969.

In the district building permits values were determined by 74 permits issued of which 58 were for dwelling units valued at $861,516.

Six permits were issued for additions to schools for a value of $427,658 and two for new commercial developments valued at $90,000.

A value of $22,200 was placed on permits to commercial structures and six accessories to dwellings.

Two plumbing permits were issued.

There were 58 new housing starts and 57 completions.

Construction values to date in the area, excluding city figures for September, are $19,987,468.

Ambulance At Two Calls

No fires were reported in Kelowna Thursday, and the ambulance unit of the Kelowna Fire Brigade answered one routine and one accident call. The latter involved a single-car accident at the airport cut-off on Highway 97 at 11:37 p.m. One man was rushed to Kelowna General Hospital.

A truck fire on Highway 97 in Rutland Thursday afternoon delayed traffic for several minutes and caused serious damage to the vehicle's motor.

The blaze was extinguished before spreading to the rest of the truck.

The disturbing din precipitated a delegation to city council in May led by Alex Kabatoff, who told city fathers the noise level had reached such proportions it was keeping nearby residents awake as late as 2 a.m.

High Pressure Still Around

Sunny skies and warm temperatures should prevail over the Central Okanagan as a high pressure system continues to dominate the local weather pattern.

Thursday's high was 71, the overnight low 35 and no precipitation was recorded.

Low tonight and high Saturday should be 37 and 75.

Mrs. F.L. Locke Contributed Much

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 3 p.m. from Day's Chapel of Remembrance for Mrs. Margaret Florence Locke, 88, of 1283 Bernard Ave., who died Sunday.

Born in Devonshire, she came to the Rutland area in 1912.

In 1914, she married Henry Locke, who predeceased her in 1950.

She was noted for her community work, including dressing dolls during the Christmas season for the Kelowna fire brigade toy fund.

Mrs. Locke is survived by two sons, Harry and Stephen, both of Kelowna, three daughters, Margaret (Mrs. Harry Kirk), Rutland; Edith (Mrs. E. Scott), Summerland, and Phyllis (Mrs. H. Lincoln), Burnaby, 24 grandchildren and two nieces.

Rev. Robert Stobie officiated and interment followed in Kelowna cemetery.

Pallbearers were Sam Closs, Dr. Cecil Newby, George Anderson, Les Orel, Charles Gable and David Chapman.

Day's funeral service was in charge of the arrangements.

SEEN and HEARD

Flights originating from Vancouver were delayed until 11:45 a.m. today as an extensive fog blanketed the Lower Mainland. A Pacific Western Airlines' flight from Vancouver to Kelowna was delayed approximately one hour and 50 minutes because of the fog. By 11:30 a.m., the airlines in Vancouver began to board passengers. Under federal regulations, aircraft cannot use an airport if the visibility is less than half a mile.

Sure enough, there was the dog checking out the remainder of the new tenant's belongings.

NEW STYLE 'FLAGMAN'

When she says slow, she means slow. That's right, the flagman is a flagman. The scene is Highway 33, between Kelowna and Rutland, where a new gas line is being installed and two girls are being used as "flagmen." The practice of using girls to control traffic at construction sites has been popular on the Prairies for several years, but Lynda Demchuck is one of the first seen in these parts.

Senate Taxation Report

The Liberal-dominated Senate banking committee told the government Wednesday to abandon its search for an ideal taxation policy and concentrate on a careful, methodical approach to tax change.

The committee, whose 30 members make up more than one-third of the present 84 members in the 102-seat Senate, tabled a detailed report on the government's white paper proposals for tax reform.

The report, prepared after oral and written testimony from 343 business, individuals and groups, expressed disagreement with most of the main government proposals.

The committee gave qualified approval to the white paper proposal for a capital gains tax but said this should be in a form that was "not too onerous."

The committee expressed strong disapproval of the government's proposal to increase taxes for single persons earning more than $3,000 annually and married persons earning more than $8,500.

But it applauded the government proposal to exempt about 750,000 lower-income Canadians from payment of income tax.

A proposal to increase personal exemptions—$1,400 tax free instead of the present $1,000 for individual taxpayers—should be applied only to individuals earning less than $3,000 and families with less than $8,500, rather than for all taxpayers.

Rejecting a wholesale change of the tax system the report said: "Your committee feels that it would be far more sensible and safe to introduce gradually amendments to the existing tax system, such as a limited capital gains tax and partial amendments to the dividend tax credit and natural resource incentives, rather than take the chance of perhaps adversely and seriously affecting the whole economy of this country."

"Perfect tax systems are the fabric of dreams—not of human endeavor."

The committee agreed with the government that the top rate of tax be reduced to about 50 per cent from over 80 per cent. This should be done immediately.

The loss of revenue from providing tax relief and the low-and higher-income levels should be compensated for by the introduction of a capital gains tax and the natural growth of corporate income and tax, the committee said. The government says its calculations show increased taxes would be needed in the middle-income areas to compensate for the loss of revenue.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield welcomed the committee's report because it supported the stand taken by the Conservatives on the white paper.

The New Democrats said it was difficult to comment on the committee's report because of the "one-sided" nature of the hearings and those involved. The senators and most witnesses are businessmen with business interests, the NDP statement said.

The report said it would take a middle line on the capital gains tax issue between the government's proposal to tax such gains as income at the recipient's personal tax rates and the present system of not taxing stock-market and property gains at all.

Short-term gains and losses from purchases and sales within a year should be taxed as personal income, the committee said, but long-term gains from transactions over a period of more than a year should be subject to a maximum tax of 25 per cent.

The senators were firmly opposed to a major feature of the white paper that links the rates of income tax paid by corporations and those levied on shareholders receiving profits as dividends.

For private corporations, profits would be taxed the same either as company profits or as personal income in the hands of the owners.

For public corporations, shareholders would get an allowance on dividend income for the corporate tax actually paid on the profits before they were shared.

The committee proposed tax exemptions of gains from sales of personal property up to a value of $5,000 instead of the $500 exemption proposed by government. Also opposed were any taxes on any unrealized gains.

IT HAPPENED IN CANADA

Main Concern For Canadians Is The Economy, Says Caouette

TORONTO (CP) — Real Caouette, leader of the Ralliement des Creditistes, said Thursday the main concern of Canadians is the state of the economy.

"There is an economic problem... and we're not going to solve it by the methods of the present government," he said at a news conference.

Mr. Caouette, here to address a meeting of the Broadcast Executives Society, said his recent cross-country tour convinced him the state of the economy "does bother" the whole Canadian people.

He called the federal white paper on taxation a program for "pure confiscation of property" and described it as being "not only socialistic, but communistic."

The white paper proposals would take from the haves and give to the have-nots, but this would result only in "a lot of have-nots and no haves in this country."

However, he believes the white paper proposals "definitely won't be imposed" because of objection to them.

He said that Canada is "nearly bankrupt" and the public sector of the economy "should be financed by use of the Bank of Canada at no interest as we do for other countries in the world."

He also criticized the government for not taking better advantage of the United States need for energy resources when it negotiated the increased sales of gas announced earlier this week.

"If there was ever a place where the government of Canada had a chance of a real good deal with the U.S., this was it, but it went by them (the government)."

He said the U.S. obtains most of its imported oil from Venezuela and he sees no reason why Canada shouldn't gain a larger share of the U.S. market, but the government forgot "everything about oil" in the deal.

He also saw the language problem in Canada as having its roots in economics.

"When the economic problem is solved, the language problem will be solved."

He does not believe that people of 40 or 50 years should be forced to learn a second language. This was "pure discrimination."

The problem should be solved in the schools.

STILL GOOD TRAVELLER

Asked for his assessment of Prime Minister Trudeau, he said the prime minister is "the same man as I knew 20 or 25 years ago when he was a good traveller."

Mr. Caouette's assessment of Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa was that he is "sincerely dedicated.... He's done some good things."

He also saw a "real good chance" for his party in the next general election, particularly in the West where the people are not happy with Mr. Trudeau and aren't inclined toward Opposition Leader Stanfield. He said his party will field a full slate of candidates in the Western provinces in the next election.

British Team On Lookout For Alberta Military Site

OTTAWA (CP) — A British defence ministry reconnaissance team is scouting the possibility of establishing a military training centre in Alberta.

The 12-man team arrived here Monday for discussions at defence headquarters and left the next day for Suffield, Alta., where it still is.

Part of the group went to Calgary today to check what backup services might be available from the Canadian forces there.

It is understood the British are interested in leasing part of the 1,000-square-mile defence research board site at Suffield for periodic armored exercises. A small U.K. maintenance team would remain full-time at the base.

A Canadian defence department source said a "sizable" number of troops would be involved in the training program. No decision is expected for some months. If British and Canadian officials conclude an agreement for lease of the site it probably will be two or three years before operations get under way, the source said.

Negotiations on possible lease of a site in Canada by the British Army have been going on for some time.

The arrangement would be in addition to the established practice whereby British units come to Canada each year for limited training periods at Canadian bases.

The British had previously looked at a number of prospective sites in Canada, including Suffield, "and it would appear they are interested in Suffield," said a defence department spokesman.

Russians' Robot May Defeat U.S.

By PHILIP DEANE, Foreign Affairs Analyst

We cannot, yet, evaluate the success of Russia's scientific experiments on the moon with her robot probe: in the next year, Russian scientists will begin publishing their findings. Eventually, it will be possible to tell whether they obtained from their first robot exploration of the moon's soil, as much data as the Americans obtained with their first team of astronauts. But, however sparse the first scientific findings may be, the indisputable fact will remain that Russia will have retrieved samples of moon soil without risking a human life in the process.

That they did not have to risk a human life means they spent a lot less money. They did not have to build life-support systems into their mooncraft. There was no need for supplies of oxygen, water, for waste disposal, for radiation shields, for protection against meteorites. Even the amount of insulation needed was far less. One might even say that the margins of accuracy and reliability were less—they did not have to be as high as they have had to be in the U.S. spacecraft which carried men to the moon and back. Had the Russian rocket failed to return from the moon, Moscow would simply have said that it had sent yet another device for exploration, a device not designed to return.

The Russian exploit, of course, is much less spectacular than the U.S. moonwalks. The propaganda victory the Americans gained was tremendous. But the cost was also tremendous compared with what the Russian cost must have been, and the results the Russians will obtain with their robots may well be, in the long run, as valid as those the Americans obtained.

For years, many U.S. scientists have been arguing that the man-on-the-moon program was a frightful waste of resources; that a robot could have done the job as well and for a fraction of the cost. The cost, as calculated by these critics of the U.S. program does not only involve the dollars actually spent, but the diversion of precious scientific talent, from other jobs, to getting a man on the moon before 1970. The cost in money alone has been more than $24 billion. The cost in unrealized progress because resources were diverted and used extravagantly in one area, has yet to be calculated.

In addition to this excessive scientific cost, the critics of the U.S. program say that the billions spent on putting a man on the moon would have been much better used clearing slums, fighting pollution, giving foreign aid or even cutting taxes.

Furthermore, the overconcentration of U.S. technology on putting a man on the moon, may have caused distortions in the development of consumer products; industries that worked on the man on the moon program have developed all kinds of skills, all kinds of tools which they now want to exploit financially and they are engaged in subtle, long-term campaigns to create demand for products arising out of the new technology, products that are hardly essential and simply add to the trash generated by the society or to the artificiality of the economy which is, already, too dependent on luxury (inessential) production and consumption.

Giant corporations have grown on the back of the moon program and they must somehow survive. Their inessentiality will be a source of economic unease for many years, say the domestic critics of the U.S. man-on-the-moon program.

Russia Protests That U.S. Zionists Pursue Campaign Against Citizens

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russia protested Thursday to the United States against an alleged Zionist campaign of provocations and threats against Soviet citizens in the U.S.

The note, quoted by Tass news agency, demanded action by the government in Washington to cut short "the dangerous actions of Zionist extremists which did not stop before direct acts of violence against Soviet citizens," it said.

The note, forwarded to the U.S. embassy in Moscow, warned that non-action by the American authorities "can only contribute to the campaign hostile to the Soviet Union and have unfavorable consequences to the relations between our two states."

An unbridled anti-Soviet campaign has been conducted in the United States for some time by Zionist organizations, the note said.

"This campaign is accompanied by threats and provocations against institutions and representatives of the Soviet Union in the United States."

The note said the United States has replied to previous protests with assurances that appropriate measures would be taken.

"However, contrary to these assurances, the situation has not changed to this day, from which it follows that the American authorities have still not taken effective steps to protect Soviet representatives in the United States from hostile attacks of the unbridled Zionists," the note said.

The note listed hostile acts against the Soviet embassy in Washington, the offices of the Soviet airline Aeroflot and those of the Intourist travel agency, among others.

A U.S. embassy official said Boris Klosson, minister at the embassy, was summoned to the Soviet foreign ministry Thursday morning and handed the note.

Laws On 'Pot' Unchanged

(Victoria Colonist)

Justice Minister John Turner's announcement recently that there will be no change in laws governing the use and sale of marijuana until further and comprehensive research has been done on the effects of the drug will receive the solid approval of the majority of Canadian citizens.

The federal government's decision on the matter as reported by Mr. Turner marks a definite and deserved defeat in cabinet debate for Health Minister John Munro and his other soft-on-drugs colleagues along with the protagonists of the LeDain Commission report.

It will be recalled that earlier this year Mr. Munro made the incredible statement that if a significant minority of Canadians used marijuana it should be legalized even if it involved some health danger.

It might also be remembered that the LeDain Commission on the non-medical use of narcotics recommended lighter sentences for the use, possession and trafficking of marijuana—an attitude described by one provincial attorney-general as being "evident anti-police bias and pro-drug stance" on the part of the commission members.

Though provincial attorneys-general unanimously rejected the LeDain Commission's recommendations almost two months ago, the federal government has been slow to reveal its own attitude toward the issue.

Finally, after what must have been a series of long, detailed, and probably heated cabinet arguments, it has come up with a decision to stand pat.

Few responsible Canadians will find fault with the reasons for choosing this course as outlined by the justice minister. Before the government will even consider introducing legislation to change existing laws governing marijuana extensive studies must be done on the long-term effects of the drug on health, the tendency to increase dosage after prolonged use, the tendency to escalate to harder drugs, the effects of marijuana on people who drive and the international implications of liberalizing drug laws.

By reaching this interim verdict the cabinet has not only demonstrated its responsibility toward its fellow citizens but has displayed a commendable concern over what international repercussions would result from the course championed by Mr. Munro and the LeDain Commission.

Repeal Of Smut Laws Call Termed 'The Denmark Option' In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission's call for repeal of U.S. adult anti-smut laws has been blasted as "the Denmark option" by three dissenting members—but two others say it doesn't go far enough.

Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew dismissed the 18-member commission on obscenity and pornography report out of hand during a speech in Salt Lake City Wednesday night. He called it a product of former president Johnson's administration.

WORLD WATCHING FROM ARMCHAIR

MARRIAGE OF DEAD KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — A girl who died 28 years ago was married in an elaborate wedding in Penang to a man who died two years before her, a Kuala Lumpur newspaper reported. It said relatives made effigies of the Chinese couple and showered them with paper replicas of gifts. Then they burned the effigies and gifts.

SAVE MAGNOLIA NEW YORK (AP) — A magnolia tree grows in Brooklyn and neighborhood children are raising money to make sure it won't be destroyed by an urban renewal program. The community is selling raffle tickets, shaped like magnolia leaves, for a fund to raise $5,000 to save the building sheltering the tree from the wrecker's ball.

BABY ORANGUTAN IPOH, Malaysia (AP) — Rokiah, a captured Borneo orangutan at the Taiping zoo near here, has given birth to a four-pound female, one of the few orangutans born in captivity. Zoo officials said she had one previous birth but the baby died a month later. Conservationists fear the orangutan is nearing extinction in its native Borneo.

"It's not our baby," Agnew said of the 12-member majority's report. "This commission was not named by President Nixon.... As long as Richard Nixon is president, Main Street is not going to turn into Smut Alley."

However, two members of the commission, both sociologists, said the group should have recommended repeal of all U.S. anti-smut laws, including those banning the sale of pornography to children.

"There is no substantial evidence that exposure to juveniles is necessarily harmful," said Prof. Otto N. Larsen of the University of Washington and Marvin E. Wolfgang, chairman of the University of Pennsylvania's sociology department.

"There may even be beneficial effects," they said. "If for no other reason than the encouragement of open discussion about sex between parents and children, relatively early in young lives."

But Charles Keating, President Nixon's only appointee to the commission, accused the majority of "following the Pied Piper of Denmark." He said its proposals would turn the United States into a "pagan, animalistic" country if Congress paid any attention to them.

The commission's recommendations Wednesday to repeal adult censorship laws but enact laws against publicly displaying obscene pictures or selling them to children would parallel Denmark's liberal sex laws.

TODAY in HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS Oct. 2, 1970... Ferdinand Foch, supreme commander of the Allied armies at the end of the First World War, was born 119 years ago today—in 1851. Author of military texts, Foch proved practical leadership at the Marne in 1914 and Ypres in 1915. Not until 1918, faced by German successes, did the Allies unify their planning staff. Chosen as the supreme commander, Foch won the second battle of the Marne and inexorably rolled back the German advance.

1919—The Soviet Union recognized the Chinese Communist government at Peking.

1871—Mormon leader Brigham Young was arrested for polygamy.

1804—Britain's entire population was mobilized to resist possible invasion by Napoleon Bonaparte's armies.

MUSEUM NOTES

Seminar Delights History Minded

By PRIMROSE UPTON

The British Columbia Museum Association Seminar held Sept. 22-26 in Penticton in 1970 is over, and voted highly successful.

Attending from here were Mrs. Ursula Surtees, custodian of the Kelowna Centennial Museum, and Mrs. Primrose Upton, delegate for the Father Pandosy Restoration Committee of the Okanagan Historical Society.

Mrs. Surtees and I drove down on Tuesday morning, the car full of papers and materials pertaining to various aspects of the smooth running of the seminar. Registration took place on Tuesday evening and through Wednesday, with delegates coming from near and far flung parts of British Columbia, plus a representative of the Canadian Museum Association from Ottawa.

TOUR STAGED

Following an official welcome from the City of Penticton on Wednesday morning, two large bus loads of delegates and wives were treated to a tour of the southern Okanagan. The first stop at the astro-physical observatory at White Lake had the staff there showing and explaining the work of the giant 'scope and the various intricate instruments in the control building.

From there we travelled to Osoyoos where the Museum and Historical Society had a delicious buffet lunch ready, and loads of fresh fruit to delight the hearts of those not fortunate enough to live in the Okanagan Valley. A tour of the Osoyoos Museum followed, and then on up to Ab Braum's Taxi-derny and Art Museum near Oliver.

From there we travelled to the Game Farm outside Kelowna, for a view of the many animals including the then six-week-old baby tiger. We were fortunate to have very knowledgeable guides in each bus, explaining flora, fauna and history of the whole area, namely Joseph Harris and Steve Canning of Penticton.

In the evening we were treated to the excellent slides and a talk by Les Hill of Penticton on the Biotic area down to the border, and a trip up into Cathedral Lakes.

MUCH WORK

The real heavy work load started on Thursday with workshops. Donald Abbott, Curator of Archeology, Victoria, talked on the care and identification of bones, while Bjorn Simonsen, Curator of Archeology, Vancouver Centennial Museum, and Paul Sneed of the University of B.C. spoke on the care and identification of stone artifacts, and the percussion and pressure flaking of same. The other morning workshop was run by Mrs. Surtees and Bernie Fetterley of the Kootenay Museum at Nelson. They gave comprehensive coverage of inexpensive displays using common materials.

The afternoon had the delegates learning about some of the snags pertaining to travelling exhibits. On this panel were James Stanton, Historian of the Vancouver Centennial Museum; Philip Ward, Conservator, Provincial Museum; John Kye, Provincial Museum Advisor; Mrs. Wilma Wood, Education Officer, Provincial Museum.

This was followed by a panel on the trials and pitfalls encountered in doing historical publications. Right through from brochures and pamphlets to actual books and reports. On this panel were Willard Ireland, Provincial Librarian and Archivist; Mrs. T. B. Upton, Okanagan Historical Society; Bob Broadland, Editor, B.C. Museum Roundup; with Col. J. W. D. Symons, Director Maritime, Museum of British Columbia as chairman.

In the evening we were shown a beautiful collection of bottles and glass collected by A. Bradbeer, President of B.C. Bottle Collectors' Club. He took us through the history of glass making, and the many things to watch for when collecting. This was followed by a slide talk.

PROTECTIVE PLAN

Friday morning we had a most interesting talk by Jay Ashley, Oregon Historical Society, on a plan now in use in museums in Oregon. Monty DeMara of Kelowna told of the measures taken in the Kelowna Centennial Museum for safety of the contents, including a burglar alarm system.

This was followed by explanations re Antiquities Legislation—the Provincial Historic Sites Act explained by Don Abbott, Victoria, and the federal legislation explained by Peter MacNair, Curator of Ethnology, Victoria.

Display Lighting by D. S. Gordon of B.C. Hydro in Vancouver, proved to be a fascinating session, with numerous demonstrations, installation details and costs. Victor Wilson followed with a slide showing and talk on the progress made in the Father Pandosy Restoration project.

The day ended with a sumptuous dinner served on the S.S. Siamous, following which Philip Ward "stumped the experts" with various mystery items supplied by Kelowna and Penticton Museums. This proved to be a very hilarious ending to a busy seminar.

On Saturday morning, the annual general meeting and election of officers took place, thus terminating a busy and interesting seminar. It will be held in Victoria in 1971.

Reports And New Ideas At Fair Committee Meet

PEACHLAND — The post fair meeting of the Peachland Community Fair committee was held this week in the Peachland Recreation Hall with president Mrs. George Smith in the chair.

Reports were given on the 53rd annual Fall Fair held Sept. 11, which proved a success.

Committee treasurer, Mrs. Douglas Pitman, gave the first report, a breakdown of receipts for entries and fair day. Entry fees being down, even though overall fair entries were up, was explained by the great increase in the junior section who are not charged entry fees to exhibit.

Door receipts were also a fraction lower than previous years but overall profit in this year's fair was.

Mrs. Smith thanked all the committees who made the fair such a great success with special mention going to the ladies who worked in the kitchen, both for the judges luncheon and during tea, and the helpers who served tea.

PRAISE FOR MEN

She praised the men on the committee who set up tables and erected the marquee and gave a vote of thanks to the members of the Peachland Lions Club who turned out to help with these chores.

She spoke of how much the black tablecloths donated by the former Peachland Women's Institute had helped at the fair, and praised the efficient way the prize envelopes and prizes were handled by Mrs. Pitman, and Mrs. Paul Gluschenko.

Also thanked were the ladies who helped fill in entry tags the day before the fair, and ladies who took tickets at the door.

She also expressed her appreciation to the faithful few who turned up Saturday and struggled with tables and tressells to store them away for another year.

Going back to pre-fair days she expressed her thanks to members who made up the fair list and to Mrs. Harold Thwaite for typing it.

Kurt Dorn and Allan Smith put up banners and persuaded the Summerland Experimental Farm to loan the committee a marquee he promptly returned it after the fair.

FINE SELECTION

Mrs. Smith when speaking of the fair expressed her pleasure at the fine selection of entries in the junior section and the wonderful showing in flowers this year. She suggested these sections be given more space in the future.

Each department head then made suggestions for coming fairs either from judges or exhibitors comments. These were noted by the secretary for presentation to next year's fair executive.

Brian O'Hearne attended the meeting as a representative of the Peachland Lions and presented the committee with a cheque from the profits realized by the hot dog stand.

He also asked if the Lions could assist the fair committee in other ways in coming years and suggested if a car, nival-like set up on the school grounds fair day run by the Lions club would be acceptable. The committee assured him anything held outside the hall, which would add to the occasion, would be welcomed by the members.

Mrs. Smith also reported that the Peachland Riding Club had asked if another year they could run a small horse show on fair day and this offer was also agreed to by the committee.

Appointed to the nominating committee were Mrs. Lillian Ayres, chairman, Mr. Allan Smith and Mrs. Keith MacGregor.

Next meeting was set for Nov. 17 and this will be the committee's annual meeting and be open to all residents in the community.

Judge Taunt Brings Ban

LOS ANGELES (CP) — Charles Manson and his three women co-defendants have been banished from the courtroom for taunting the judge in the Sharon Tate murder trial.

The trial was ordered reconvened today with the four listening to proceedings over a loud-speaker in an adjoining room. Their outburst came in court

Thursday after the chief prosecutor, Vincent T. Bugliosi, was found in contempt of court for shouting at Manson's lawyer. He was fined $50.

Suddenly, Manson began singing "The Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used To Be." The hippie-type clan leader then told Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older: "Judge, you're a woman," and repeated it several times.

Ordered to be silent, Manson recited several old complaints — not enough pencils in jail, missing mail, not enough time with his lawyer. The judge then ordered him out of court.

FIRST IN CANADA

200 Expected To Attend Special Nursing Project

Dr. Floris E. King, R.N., associate professor, project director and co-ordinator of the graduate program at the University of British Columbia's School of Nursing, has been appointed project director of Canada's first national conference on research in nursing practice.

Dr. King, who proposed the project, has received a $4,700 federal grant for the bilingual conference to be held at the Skyline Hotel in Ottawa, Feb. 16 to 18.

Some 200 nurse researchers and nurses taking graduate studies are expected to attend the conference.

To date there have been four national nursing research conferences in the United States and one international conference on nursing research, said Dr. King. It is hoped that this first Canadian conference will provide a national nucleus for the design and implementation of co-ordinated experimental studies in nursing practice.

Members of the conference planning committee include former Vancouver nurses Dr. Helen K. Mussallem, executive director of the Canadian Nurses' Association, and Dr. Beverly Du Gas, nursing consultant, Health Manpower Resources, Department of National Health and Welfare, and Dr. Moyra Allen, associate professor, School of Graduate Nursing, McGill University.

Amy E. Griffin, professor, assistant dean (academic) and co-ordinator of graduate programs, University of Western Ontario; Dr. Margaret E. Hart, Professor and director, University of Manitoba; Phyllis Jones, assistant professor, University of Toronto; Mrs. Nicole Beland Marchak, Dillard des Ormeaux, Quebec; Rita Milford, nursing consultant, Hospital Commission, Quebec Department of Health; and Pamela E. Poole, nursing consultant, Hospital Services Study Unit, Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services, Directorate, Department of National Health and Welfare.

Dr. King, the project director, joined the UBC faculty in 1968. A graduate of Toronto East General Hospital, she has a Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree from the University of Toronto, obtained her master's degree in public health education from the University of Michigan, and her doctoral degree from the University of North Carolina.

Dr. King was a public health nurse in Elobicoke, Ontario, and program director and nursing consultant for the Canadian Tuberculosis Association before coming to British Columbia.

ANN LANDERS

Stupid Friends Irritate Wound

Dear Ann Landers: After six years of marriage and two adopted children, I became pregnant. We were overjoyed. I miscarried in the fifth month and it broke my heart to lose that child. What I am writing about, however, is the stupidity and thoughtlessness of friends and family—including my own mother.

A nurse who attended me made this statement: "Gee, it's a shame. At least when you have a baby you have something to show for the pain. This way you go through all that and leave the hospital empty-handed." I didn't need her to tell me what I was missing.

When my mother came to see me she sat for one full hour describing in detail the miscarriages and stillborn babies she had had. Then she went on to report on every other member of the family who had a miscarriage. Her parting words were, "What happened to you is very common, my dear."

My first day home a neighbor asked me, "Was it a boy or a girl?" I didn't inquire and don't want to know.

Please, Ann Landers, tell people to stay off the subject of the pregnancy when they talk to a woman who has miscarried. Nothing they can say will help. Only time can heal the hurt.—Mrs. H.

Dear Mrs. H.: One of the principal aims of this column is to educate. You have helped and I thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: We are the desperate parents of a 19-year-old girl who has devoted herself completely to a boy who has just turned 15. We have begged, pleaded, threatened and screamed about this ridiculous relationship but she tells us to leave her alone.

The boy is not an average 15-year-old. He is bigger than our son who is 21 and a bully type. He treats our daughter like dirt, tells her to shut her mouth if she displeases him and acts as if he owns her. To make matters worse he lives directly across the street and she can't take one step out of the house but what he comes running over.

Our daughter is a smart girl (in some ways). She has a good job and makes a nice salary. She pays for all their dates, tickets, buys him clothes and gifts and chauffeurs him everywhere in her car. It drives us crazy to witness her disgraceful conduct. What can we do?—H.H.

Dear H.H.: You can lay off—and I hope you do it soon because your opposition is binding them together. The more you knock the boy the more she'll defend him. When you stop nagging your daughter, she might decide to drop him. But she won't drop him so long as you are on her back.

Dear Ann Landers: work in a new building — one of the most beautiful in this city. It makes me sick the way some girls wipe lipstick on the walls of the ladies room, put their muddy shoes on couches provided for their convenience and leave half-eaten fruit and stale sandwiches — laying around. They even grind out cigarettes on the floor although there are plenty of ash trays.

I am annoyed by the sloppiness of these girls, especially those who come from very high class families. Would I be wrong if I spoke out and corrected them? I feel like a gutless wonder standing around like a dummy while they ruin company property. — L. K. of New Brunswick, N.J.

Dear L.K.: Speak up, by all means. Someone should tell the slobs that their bad manners are not going unobserved. Your signature reminded me that the most immaculate and best laid out ladies room I've ever seen anywhere is in your town — at Johnson and Johnson.

Stupid Friends Irritate Wound

Dear Ann Landers: After six years of marriage and two adopted children, I became pregnant. We were overjoyed. I miscarried in the fifth month and it broke my heart to lose that child. What I am writing about, however, is the stupidity and thoughtlessness of friends and family—including my own mother.

A nurse who attended me made this statement: "Gee, it's a shame. At least when you have a baby you have something to show for the pain. This way you go through all that and leave the hospital empty-handed." I didn't need her to tell me what I was missing.

When my mother came to see me she sat for one full hour describing in detail the miscarriages and stillborn babies she had had. Then she went on to report on every other member of the family who had a miscarriage. Her parting words were, "What happened to you is very common, my dear."

My first day home a neighbor asked me, "Was it a boy or a girl?" I didn't inquire and don't want to know.

Please, Ann Landers, tell people to stay off the subject of the pregnancy when they talk to a woman who has miscarried. Nothing they can say will help. Only time can heal the hurt.—Mrs. H.

Dear Mrs. H.: One of the principal aims of this column is to educate. You have helped and I thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: We are the desperate parents of a 19-year-old girl who has devoted herself completely to a boy who has just turned 15. We have begged, pleaded, threatened and screamed about this ridiculous relationship but she tells us to leave her alone.

The boy is not an average 15-year-old. He is bigger than our son who is 21 and a bully type. He treats our daughter like dirt, tells her to shut her mouth if she displeases him and acts as if he owns her. To make matters worse he lives directly across the street and she can't take one step out of

HITHER and YON

A recent visitor to the prairies was Mrs. Elaine Young who visited a son in Regina and also visited another son and his family in Calgary.

Visitors this week with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hinks of Patterson Avenue are old friends, Mr. and Mrs. George Walker of North Battleford, Sask., as well as a nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Earl George of Surrey, B.C., who are here on a combined business-pleasure trip for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Ciley recently returned to Kelowna to make their home at Carman Manor after a year's absence, during which they lived in Calgary. Both Mr. and Mrs. Ciley were active in a number of community organizations here before leaving for Alberta and will be welcomed back into the fold.

OKANAGAN MISSION

Dr. and Mrs. Michael Lewis, Farris Road, with Mrs. Ben Laidlaw attended the Board of Directors meeting of the Okanagan Symphony Society in Vernon recently to discuss plans for the fall concert on Nov. 22.

Staying with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fletcher, DeHart Road, for the past week was Gill Dunlop from Parksville, Vancouver Island. She is a cousin of Mrs. Fletcher's.

Mr. and Mrs. John Swaisland, Hobson Road, were in Jasper for the weekend to play golf with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McIsaac have recently moved from Kelowna to their lovely new home on Keith Road.

Senior Citizens And Shut-Ins Enjoy Drive

The annual fall color drive for senior citizens and shut-ins, sponsored by the United Church Women of St. Paul's United Church, was held Sept. 27.

Twenty-two drivers with more than 80 guests enjoyed the leisurely drive around the Kelowna and district countryside.

They returned to the church hall, which was gaily decorated with autumn flowers, for tea. The oldest woman and man attending were 90 and 91 years old.

The bouquets decorating the hall were given to the guests before leaving.

Mrs. William Smith did an excellent job convening the outing.

The next projects by the UCW will be the rummage sale on Nov. 7 and the Christmas tea on Nov. 28. Both projects will be held in the church hall.

Accessories, Mainly Jewelry Affected By The Longer Skirt

NEW YORK (AP) — The trend to longer skirt lengths not only changes clothing styles but also affects accessories, especially jewelry. As the legs become more covered, the focal point of interest naturally moves up.

Fashion authority Eleanor Lambert puts it this way: "This fall will be the jewelry year of all times for many years."

The longuette—one to three inches below the knee—also needs balance, and jewelry can help achieve this by long necklaces that draw the eyes up. These necklaces or ropes are a reversal from the fashion of the last couple of seasons when necklaces were tied to jewel boxes in favor of the large pin and earring sets.

Now necklaces are back, often a barbaric arrangement of beads or heavy beaten metal studded with uncut stones. A leader in this style is Cadore. Cadore's two partners and designers were winners of a 1970 Coty Fashion Award for their original and offbeat jewelry.

Already Cadore has made fashion history with African-inspired wooden bead necklaces, introduced last year and now extremely popular for fall. The huge beads are polished, sculptured or sometimes silvered, with small glittering jewels embedded.

This fall Cadore is featuring necklaces that look as if they cost a fortune, but don't, in rows of jeweled beads mixed with pearls and intricate gold work.

What Are the Advantages of Contacts?

There are many. Most people wear contacts for cosmetic reasons—that is, they look better, feel more attractive, and seem to be more socially well adjusted. As a result, the psychological benefits to many who have switched to contacts cannot be underestimated. Contact lenses also provide better correction than eyeglasses for many vision defects. There are even specific eye defects and injuries for which contacts are a necessity and the only solution. Additionally, contacts provide certain occupational advantages not only for those involved in glamour careers but also for many everyday jobs and professions.

Datsun welcomes the competition

Datsuns came first, second, third and fifth in the 1970 East African Safari Rally. Nine out of nineteen cars to finish were ours. We won the Canadian Winter Rally. We won the 10,000 miles Around Australia Rally. We won our class in the last Shell 4000. We won the Canadian National Rally Championship in 1967 and 1969, and we're way out in front again this time. We've proved our car a winner time after time, year after year. Here's why.

Not just for glory We did it to see what Datsun could do under extreme driving conditions. We wanted to test our car to its limits, under the worst possible conditions against the best possible competition. And as a result of the results, today all Datsun drivers get superb performance, ironclad durability, smooth handling and up to 35 miles to the gallon.

Here's what the competition's got to beat 96 horse overhead camshaft engine. Dual barrel carb. Alternator. Independent rear suspension. Unit-body construction. Lots of no-cost extras. Like bucket seats, front disc brakes, door-to-door carpet, and flow-through ventilation. And of course, the complete safety package including telescopic shock-absorbing steering column, headrests, harnesses, and four-way flashers is standard. The only options are a radio and 3-speed automatic transmission.

We want to be fair Without the untiring efforts of the competition we wouldn't be where we are today. Our front. We want to thank them, because the harder they try, the harder we have to try. And that's good for everybody.

PRODUCER CLEARED

Producer Otto Preminger was found innocent in Quincy, Mass., Wednesday of desecrating a cemetery by filming a nude scene there featuring actress Liza Minnelli, above. The complaint against him involved shooting for the movie, Tell Me That You Love Me, June Moon. The cemetery scene was done at night in privately-owned Blue Hill cemetery in nearby Braintree. Preminger claimed Miss Minnelli was wearing a body stocking during shooting of the scene. A police witness said Miss Minnelli, daughter of the late actress Judy Garland, dropped her dress to the waistline several times, holding a bouquet in front of her. Later "she completely disrobed, dropping her dress and dropping her panties."

Stars 'Lucky In Our Days' But Things Different Now

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "In our day, stars had it lucky. The studios built our careers with care and bought vehicles or created them especially for us. Today's stars must take what comes to them. And if they make the wrong choices, they're dead."

This was Bette Davis holding forth on the star system, a subject on which she is one of the world's greatest experts. For 15 years she reigned as the dramatic queen of Warner Bros., exacting two Academy Awards and a score of memorable performances.

She was here briefly, en route from her Westport, Conn., home to locations for her new film Bunny O'Hare in Albuquerque, N.M.

Miss Davis seemed to relish the prospect of returning to work, but the trip to New Mexico didn't thrill her.

"I hate locations," she said. "I've been fortunate; I had only one location picture, Storm Center, which we made at Santa Rosa, Calif."

"Yes, I know that this new crop of directors likes to shoot in actual locales, but I think it's a mistake. Locations have nothing to do with acting. You encounter so many distractions on location that the acting has to suffer."

"The studios have men who could build sets that are just as good as any location. You can shoot better inside a studio. And cheaper, too."

Bette Davis is not the kind of star to hanker for the "good old days." Ever the realist, she reflects that some of those days were pretty bad, especially when stars could be dictated to by studio bosses. Still, there were distinct advantages to the studio system.

"For all of its abuses, the studio system was pretty damned good for a lot of us," she admitted. "Those old boys knew how to build stars—not create them, because only the public could do that."

"Once a star was established, the studio could provide a continuity of career by providing pictures tailored to his talents. And don't forget those fantastic publicity departments. They could spend a year creating a demand for a certain picture."

"Today there is no area for failure. If an actor doesn't make it in his first big role, he's finished. If Dustin Hoffman hadn't hit big in The Graduate, he would have been out of the business by now."

Miss Davis remains as active as she would like to be—a picture a year suits her. She could work more often if she accepted the roles offered her, "mostly nutty older women."

Anka Makes Return To Site Of Success

PARIS (CP) — Canadian singer Paul Anka has returned to the scene of his smashing success in 1958.

Making a comeback as a performer at age 29, Anka is steering clear of the shaggy style of the pop music era. He wears a white shirt and tie, keeps his suit jacket buttoned and concentrates on giving a polished performance.

Anka came to Paris from Las Vegas and London where, as Eva Fournier wrote in France-Soir, he "electrified the elegant crowd of diners in the Hippodrome cabaret every night."

The Ottawa-born entertainer's repertoire no longer includes Diana, the song that sold eight million records and brought him fame as a 15-year-old singer and songwriter. But he still writes his own material.

"What saves me is that I'm just as happy writing songs as singing them," he said.

FINDS HIMSELF

"To be a star is to depend on others, the public primarily but also those around you. When you write, you are yourself."

Anka started his comeback

LAUGH TO DEATH

Actor George C. Scott has paid more than $100,000 for the screenplay Harrow Alley — a story set in the middle ages and described as a comedy about the plague.

PAUL ANKA

two years ago after leaving the music scene to live with his wife and two children. His return is based on the conviction that current pop music is a passing phase.

"In spite of my friendship for many pop musicians, I'm convinced that this style will pass and that's why I came back," he said.

"I retired to make way for the Beatles and the groups that followed them. I believe that my style now is on the way up again."

Major Studios

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirteen major movie studios have sued the ABC and CBS television networks, charging them with anti-trust violations through the production of full-length theatrical films.

The suit, which asks an injunction to prevent this and also demands unspecified damages, exempted NBC, which it noted had not gone into feature film production.

ABC and CBS denied the charges, filed Monday.

HELP ARRIVES IN JORDAN

A British medical team complete with hospital supplies has arrived in Amman, Jordan, aboard an RAF transport to provide help for the many thousands of wounded suffering after the recent fighting. According to some reports many of those injured in last week's savage battles have still not received treatment, and many even bled to death for lack of trained medical staff to staunch their wounds.

ONTARIO'S CRIME PROBE

Police Surprised At Record

TORONTO (CP) — Three men alleged to be persons of known criminal activity visited the home of George Clinton Duke in 1968—the same year that senior provincial police personnel were ordered to drop social visits to the Duke home—an inquiry was told Thursday.

One of the men, Daniel Gasbarrini, testified he, John Papalia and Donald (Red) LeBarre visited the Oakville home to discuss a possible high-rise development on Duke's land.

Dr. Morton Shulman, member of the legislature for Toronto High Park, named the three as persons of known criminal activity in a speech to a legislature committee June 4.

The inquiry, by Mr. Justice Campbell Grant of the Ontario Supreme Court, is looking into Dr. Shulman's allegation that Mr. Duke, millionaire lawn equipment dealer, was associating with known criminals and with senior provincial police officers.

The inquiry has been told that all three men, as well as Mr. Duke, have criminal records. Senior OPP officers have testified they were surprised to learn the millionaire served 12 years in prison for a 1930 jewel robbery before being deported from the United States to Canada.

CONVICTED IN 1949

Mr. Gasbarrini, an executive officer of several Hamilton realty and development firms, was last convicted in Vancouver in 1949 for conspiracy to distribute narcotics.

Mr. LeBarre has been identified in testimony as a bookmaker and Mr. Papalia was convicted in the United States in 1963 for conspiring to import narcotics.

Mr. Gasbarrini said the visit was either in the late spring or early summer of 1968. The inquiry heard earlier that OPP Commissioner Eric Silk ordered social ties with Mr. Duke to be broken in August, 1968, when he learned Mr. Duke had a criminal record.

Supt. Albert Wilson and Staff Supt. A. M. Rodger are under suspension for disobeying Mr. Silk's order. Charges against them under the Police Act will be heard after the inquiry.

Other testimony Thursday:

—Mr. LeBarre confirmed Mr. Gasbarrini's testimony but offered little additional information.

—Chief Leonard Lawrence of the Hamilton police force told of a confidential interview with Mrs. Duke in July, 1968, in which she told him she was in fear of her life because of her husband's association with Papalia and LeBarre.

She said she had "great distrust of the OPP" because her husband had friends among its senior officers.

—Spt. Rodger said he made a mistake in judgment in disobeying Mr. Silk. Inquiry counsel J. J. Robinette suggested it was more than a mistake in judgment.

"TOOK THE RISK"

"You were so attached to Mr. Duke that you took the risk of violating the commissioner's order," said Mr. Robinette.

"I would class Mr. Duke as an acquaintance," Supt. Rodger replied. "As a man with six daughters, I would never consider inviting Mr. Duke to my home with them."

Mr. Gasbarrini said the 1968 meeting, his first formal introduction to Mr. Duke, lasted 45 minutes. It was suggested by

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Smoking Not Alone As Emphysema Cause

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will you say something about emphysema? Is there a cure, and what can be done for relief? I don't smoke and I thought that was the cause of emphysema—smoking, I mean. I am 74 and my doctor says it is natural for old folks, but he didn't give me any medication. I cough a great deal, but it seems to be all in my throat.—Mrs. L.B.

No, smoking isn't the only cause of emphysema by any means, although it is one of the commonest contributors to that trouble, and anyone with emphysema who smokes is making his trouble worse.

I don't know as we can say that emphysema is "natural" in older folks, but it can develop from any of a number of causes. Infections of the lungs, various irritants of the lungs, and the processes of aging in some, all can play a part. Emphysema used to be regarded as a disease of people in such professions as glass-blowing, but I suspect that more than that was involved.

Anyway, emphysema is a matter of the small air cells of the lungs breaking down. Originally, the lungs are a spongy mass, with countless tiny pockets, much like a fine sponge. When you exhale, a lot of air (and carbon dioxide) is expelled. Then fresh air is drawn into the many little air pockets. Emphysema involves a breaking down of these small air pockets, into a smaller number of larger pockets. There is less surface to absorb oxygen. There is less ability to expel air and dioxide. More "stale air" simply stays in the lungs. Bronchitis, in varying degrees, is a frequent companion of emphysema. That, or asthma, or a cold, or anything that interferes with free breathing, makes the trouble worse.

There isn't any cure for emphysema. The lung tissues have been altered. If there is a great deal of phlegm in the throat (or bronchial tubes), your doctor can give medication that will loosen the phlegm, but there's nothing he can do to cure the basic trouble.

Learning to breathe more deeply and efficiently will help. In some cases, positive pressure machines or the use of oxygen periodically may be required.

But with or without these aids, it is only good sense to be as careful as possible to avoid flu, colds, or other respiratory ailments. You can't avoid them all, but in the "cold season," be wary of crowds and try to stay away from people who have colds.

Finally, flu shots can't prevent all flu, and certainly can't guard against colds, but a flu shot each autumn, and an extra one if flu epidemics threaten, can be a very valuable precaution.

BIDDING QUIZ

Your right-hand opponent deals and bids One Spade, both sides vulnerable. What would you bid now with each of the following four hands?

1. Spade A74; Heart J9762; Diamond A83; Club A5
2. Spade A78; Heart Q7; Diamond A983; Club KQJ2
3. Spade 6; Heart AKJ983; Diamond KJ5; Club A84
4. Spade K5; Heart 8; Diamond AQJ73; Club AQ853

1. Pass. It would be dangerous to bid two hearts with such a shaky suit, for, if the next player doubled, the outcome might well be disastrous.

Overcalls are primarily based on how many tricks you can take, not on how many points you have. The safety of the overall is practically always the first consideration. True, this hand would rank as an opening bid as dealer, before the strength of the other three hands is known, but once your right-hand opponent announces the values for an opening bid, you must pull in your horns and tread cautiously. The bidding may develop so that you can later enter the fray more safely, but until then you must remain quiet simply as a matter of self-preservation.

2. One notrump. This is easily the best way of identifying the type of hand you hold. You have the values for a double, but that would imply better distribution. The notrump overall shows 16 to 18 points, balanced distribution, and at least one stopper in the adverse suit.

3. Double. Your hand is much too good for a simple overcall of two hearts. While it is true that overcalls in the two level represent good hands, still there is a limit to how strong they can be. This hand exceeds that limit. A double is potentially a much stronger bid than an overcall.

Change the ace of clubs to the deuce and you would have a typical two heart bid. To show you have about an ace more than a normal two heart bid, you double first and then bid hearts. This makes it possible for your partner to distinguish between a bid aimed at a part score and a bid that aims for game.

4. Two diamonds. Here also you have the high-card values for a double, but it is tactically better to overcall instead of doubling. There is too much danger, if you were to double, that you would be unable to show both minor suits at a safe level. Your partner would be likely to respond in hearts — and you lack support for that suit.

It is better to run the slight risk of being dropped on a hand where there might be a minor-suit game than to run the risk of missing the right contract by losing bidding space with a takeout double. Practical considerations frequently outweigh technical requirements.

LARGE CONTINGENT OF LOCAL TALENT

The Kelowna Buckaroos will open their 1970-71 B.C. Junior A Hockey League schedule Saturday in Vernon, with seven of their 18 players being Kelowna products. The seven from left to right, are

Gerry Feist, Ken Weninger, Cary Larsen, Ian MacCrimmon, Reg Keating, Bruce Gerlach, Greg Fox and Larry Keating. This season's contingent of local talent is larger than in it has been for several years, and manager-coach Wayne North has been pleased with its performance to date. The Bucks, sixth place finishers last season, took two of their three exhibition games; one against

Vernon (5-3), and the other over Penticton (6-5). The first home game for the Buckaroos is next Friday, when they play host to defending BCJHL champion Vernon Essos. (Courier photo)

IN KAMLOOPS

Cubs, Red Devils Clash Tonight

To say the Kelowna Cubs will be in good shape for tonight's encounter against Kamloops Red Devils is only half right.

The Cubs, after holding a strong Richmond club of the Vancouver and District Football League to only eight points last weekend, in an 8-6 loss, have got to be one of the first choices to finish on top of the Okanagan-Mainline Football League for the fourth straight year. And tonight, should have little trouble with the Kamloops squad which dropped a 38-8 decision to a strong Penticton club last Friday in Penticton.

While the hometowners will be going into tonight's game in a strong frame of mind, they will be hurting physically, largely due to their hard-hitting affair with Richmond.

Colin Emslie, the Cubs ever improving guard-tackle, is on crutches due to a sprained ankle, and Lindsay Thomas is suffering from a badly bruised tail bone. Bruce Scott, a first year man, is a doubtful starter and veteran Tom Gordon has a wrenched shoulder, suffered in some horseplay outside of football, while quarterback Gord Fretwell is favoring a bruised right hand.

WILL TRY THEM OUT
Although the Cubs will be hurting, coach Larry Johnson hopes to use as much of his personnel as possible; getting away from letting his regulars go both ways.

Only Mark Henderson, John Lommar and Brian Vetter are expected to do the double duty. For the Cubs, tonight's contest will be their second of five regular season games this year, the first being a 62-0 romp over Chase Trojans Sept. 20.

Immaculate Dons are currently alone in first place in the six-team loop with two victories against no defeats. They downed Merritt Raiders 46-6 in their home opener, and then took a 32-16 victory from Chase last weekend. The Dons aren't scheduled for another game until Oct. 9 when they travel to Kamloops.

The next OMF game in Kelowna is Oct. 18 when Kelowna takes on Immaculate in King's Stadium at 2 p.m.

Rider Speed And Offence A Week's Work For Gotta

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders came down hard on the side of speed and offence Thursday as they prepared to meet Winnipeg Blue Bombers Saturday afternoon in a Canadian Football League clash.

Coach Jack Gotta finally put Ken Lehmann on the 30-day injured list and designated Bill Van Burklee his 14th import for the game. Earlier he had announced that fullback Jim Mannings had been placed on waivers.

The whole thing is a case of musical imports, Gotta having to clear the way for recent National League cuts Charles Leigh and Glen Wren.

Both are fleet running backs who Gotta hopes will serve to keep the heat off flanker Hugh Oldham and ends Whit Tucker and Freeman White.

Mankins, thought last year to be an adequate replacement for Bo Scott, this year hasn't shown the same drive and ability to get into the holes before they close. This in turn leaves opposing defenders with basically only the receivers to worry about.

STEWART STILL OUT
So, with Ron Stewart still sitting out his broken arm, Ottawa has been in sore need of a running game, which Gotta hopes he now has, to get Ottawa out of the Eastern Conference cellar.

Lehmann, the team's all-star middle linebacker and defensive bulwark the last two years, has suffered most of this season with a pinched nerve in his neck. Feeling sharp pain with each tackle, he has remained on the bench for the last few games to mounting speculation he would either retire or be cut. He doesn't appear to want to retire and the team Thursday indicated it doesn't want to cut him although Jerry Campbell has moved into his spot with such aggressive alacrity it seems unlikely Gotta would consider moving him back out.

NHL EXHIBITIONS

Gold Diggers Make Claim On Big League Goalies

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Sabres and Vancouver Canucks went to last June's National Hockey League draft in Montreal with stars in their eyes.

The stars were Gilbert Perreault of Montreal Junior Canadiens and Dale Tallon of Toronto Marlboros, two highly-talented performers of the high-powered Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

As new members of the NHL fraternity, one of the two clubs would have first choice at the amateur draft table, the other would select second.

As it turned out, Buffalo's Punch Imlach won a toss of the coin and went for Perreault who paced the Junior Canadiens to last year's Canadian junior title.

The Canucks immediately nabbed Tallon whose prowess on the golf course was almost as sensational as his feats on ice. The 1969 Canadian junior golf champion was considering a golf career even as the 1969-70 hockey season was ending.

WAS IT $60,000?
But a reported $60,000 contract to sign with Vancouver lured his thoughts back to hockey during the summer. It is believed to be the most ever paid a junior to turn pro.

Both Perreault and Tallon justified their ratings Thursday night in NHL exhibition play. Perreault scored two goals, including the tying marker with 25 seconds left in the game, to give Buffalo a 4-4 tie with Pittsburgh Penguins.

Tallon also scored twice as

the Canucks upset Chicago Black Hawks 4-2 in Vancouver. Buffalo appeared headed for its fifth loss in seven pre-season games until Perreault's late-game heroics at Winnipeg, rapping home Craig Cameron's rebound over Penguin goalie Cam Newton who had sprawled to make the initial save.

The Sabres had a two-man ice advantage at the time after Imlach removed Buffalo goalie Roger Crozier while Pittsburgh's Bryan Hextall was sitting out a minor penalty.

Gerry Meehan and Reg Fleming also scored for the Sabres who now have tied three games. Ken Schinkel, Lowell MacDonald, Bob Woytowich and John Stewart replied for the Penguins.

Come ride the new high performance twins from Snow Cruiser.

Snow Cruiser high performance models RK321 and RK361 are not recommended for the timid. Because both models are very fast. Power comes from a twin cylinder, dual carb 399 cc. high performance engine on the 32 horsepower model, and a more powerful 436 cc. twin cylinder, dual carb engine on the 36 horsepower model.

Both engines are smooth and vibration-free in all rpm ranges. Yet for all that power, tuned exhaust keeps the noise down without interfering with performance.

Underneath, the RK's travel on a new 15 1/2 inch molded polyurethane track that clings to snow and ice the way a racing tire holds the track. Excellent for side-tracking slopes, and tackling hills straight on.

There's excellent flotation on any snow condition. Ski columns are heavy-duty forgings, and ski springs are extra stiff for greater stability. Caliper brakes are sure and quick. For convenience and safety, there's also a parking brake. Power is converted through a reinforced belt, dual chain, and Snow Cruiser's Variable Speed Drive that automatically delivers extra power when the going gets tough.

When it comes to styling, the RK's look just as performance minded as they are. The lines are fast and clean, with racing stripes, cut-down molded tinted windshield, dual sealed-beams and racing styled deep foam seat.

The RK's are true performers in every sense of the word. They're quick, agile, manoeuvrable and highly stable. For the experienced driver who wants to move up to performance.

For dependable winter action, see your Snow Cruiser dealer. Seven models in all including the fast, light 200's, the stable Wide-Track 2000's and the high performance RK twins.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Fergie Helps Get Second Expos Gamble Away 5th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago Cubs are a little bit richer today, thanks to Ferguson Jenkins, and Philadelphia Phillies got a lift from Oscar Gamble to escape the embarrassment of the basement as the National League regular season came to a close.

Jenkins, the Cubs' hard-throwing right-hander, moved down New York Mets Thursday night on a two-hitter, nailing down second place in the East by a game over the defending world champions with a 4-1 victory.

The second-place finish is worth approximately $1,300 per man while third is worth $400.

Jenkins, 22-4, a 20-game winner for four consecutive seasons, held the Mets hitless for six innings before Ken Singleton doubled opening the seventh. Singleton also doubled in the ninth.

The Cubs got a two-run single from Randy Hundley and Joe Pepitone's 26th homer, a two-run shot, in support of Jenkins, who struck out eight and walked two.

PACK 'EM IN

A crowd of 48,314 packed Shea Stadium, giving the Mets a home attendance mark of 2,697,478, the second best in major league history.

Gamble, the Phils' centre fielder, ripped a two-out, run-scoring single in the 10th inning, giving Philadelphia a 2-1 victory over Montreal Expos before 31,882 in the final game ever to be played at Connie Mack Stadium.

The triumph lifted the Phils into fifth place, one-half game ahead of the Expos, who finished last.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .
Sir Thomas Lipton, Glasgow-born Irishman who earned as much fame as a sportsman as a tea merchant, died 39 years ago today—in 1931—only months after his admission to the Royal Yacht Squadron, the most exclusive sailing club in the world. Sir Thomas spent nearly $15 million building five different yachts in unsuccessful bids to bring the America's Cup back to Britain.

Philadelphia moves into a new park next season. The 61-year-old stadium opened on April 12, 1909.

In other National League games, Cincinnati Reds whipped Atlanta Braves 4-1, Houston Astros edged San Francisco Giants 5-4, Pittsburgh Pirates down St. Louis Cardinals 9-5 and Los Angeles Dodgers beat San Diego Padres 7-4.

Johnson Takes AL Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

California Angels' Alex Johnson has exchanged his sometimes-titled halo for a crown—the American League batting championship.

The angriest Angel poked two early hits before sitting out the last eight innings of California's 5-4 season-closing victory over Chicago White Sox Thursday night and nipped three-time All-Star Carl Yastrzemski of Boston Red Sox by a whisker in the league's closest batting race in 17 years.

Johnson, removed from the game after beating out an infield tap in the fifth inning for his second hit in three at-bats, finished his first American League season with a .328 average. Yastrzemski went 1-for-4 in the Red Sox' final game Wednesday night for a .3286 average.

Acquired from Cincinnati Reds last winter in an inter-league deal, the reticent, 27-year-old outfielder feuded with sports writers and fought with team-mates on the way to his dramatic conquest. But when he trotted off the field after his decision scratch single, the press box denizens joined an Bobby Tolan knocked in one run with a double and Tommy Helms slammed a two-run double in the Reds' triumph. Hank Aaron slugged his 38th homer for the Braves.

Houston won its seventh straight on Bob Watson's ninth defeat pushed San Francisco into third place in the West behind runnerup Los Angeles.

Richie Hebner and Jerry May each drove in four runs in the Pirates rout. Hebner clouted a single and double while May cracked a three-run homer and sacrifice fly.

Willie Crawford drilled a run-scoring single, triggering a three-run Los Angeles sixth inning as the Dodgers clinched second place in the West. Nate Colbert homered a two-run homer, his 38th, for the Padres.

Anaheim crowd of 5,689 in a long, standing ovation. In other regular season finales, Baltimore Orioles shaded Washington Senators 3-2 for club-record winning streak of 11 games; Minnesota Twins blanked Kansas City Royals 4-0; Detroit Tigers squeezed past Cleveland Indians 1-0 and Oakland Athletics beat Milwaukee Brewers 5-4.

BATS LEADOFF

Johnson, batting leadoff for the Angels in his 11th-hour bid to overtake Yastrzemski, bounced out in the first inning, lined a single to right in the third and then outlegged a high bouncer to third in the fifth for his 203rd hit of the year. With the title secured, he was immediately replaced by pinch-runner Jay Johnson.

"Somebody told me before the game that it would take three hits to win," the usually tight-lipped veteran said. "So I was caught by surprise when they put Jay in to run for me. But when I saw him come out of the dugout, I figured I must be on top."

Johnson, who failed to hit safely in only 34 of the 157 games in which he appeared,
